

29th October, 1955.

My dear Frank,

I am enclosing now the table for the product-ratio method of estimating linkage, which I have provided with a standard error by means of the third and fifth columns in the arrangement enclosed. I think these constitute new material, although the ratios ad/bc , bc/ad and their logarithms were published years ago with Balmukand. I think people will have to be warned not to use the method too freely.

I should be interested to hear what you have been thinking about the Welch-Behrens discrepancy.

Sincerely yours,

Enc.
