

29th July, 1954.

My dear Miss Baker,

I should, of course, be most happy if you would come to the department to discuss either genetical or statistical matters next Saturday afternoon. A number of people usually drop in to tea, and if you have anything special to discuss it might be as well to come earlier than that.

We usually meet for tea at four.

Yours sincerely,