

15th July, 1935

Dear Sir,

I should be very glad to have you working here as a voluntary worker in the Galton Laboratory, and shall be at work during the period you mention, from October 1935 to June 1936. The total fees payable, including registration fee and the use of calculating machines, is somewhat less than £24.

I am particularly interested that you are determined to study statistical methods as applied to experimentation, as this is a subject on which I have been in the habit of lecturing since coming here.

Yours sincerely,

Dr Stefan Barbacki
Assistant in Department of Genetics and Plant Breeding
