

5 December 1932.

Major L. Darwin, Sc.D.,
Cripps's Corner,
Forest Row,
Sussex.

Dear Major Darwin:

I think you have found the right way to deal with Ginsberg's books. How like Hogben the last chapters are. Hogben will dislike this greatly unless he is quoted as the great authority.

I have been induced to write an article for one of those incorporated books, which come out under titles like "The New Thought and the Meaning of Life". What I have produced so far seems far too metaphysical. So may I send it you in advance so that if you say "perhaps not", it will be in time.

Yours sincerely,