CRIPPS'S CORNER,
FOREST ROW,
SUSSEX.

Dear Fisher.

In the J of 14. Oct 31 - just out - J. J. Spengler quotes you appropriately when quoting the author of a book.
p. 323. Spengler seems to know what he talks about.

On p. 326 a book by Cuyénot is named. I wonder if it should be Cuyénot, whom I met in America, and whether his book is worth reading. No answer.

I have a 5 figure table of logs, printed some 90 years ago, which I found useful for some work. I suspect it will go in the file, unless

You like to save it's life by sending me a card to say, that you would like it.

Nora Barlow has, like you, 6 children, some of whom, unlike you, I hope, are at times giving her anxiety. I asked her your question about linkage, & said I knew she was hunted, and not to reply, if nothing to say. No reply so far. You seem to have a nice complicated job about linkage.

No answer to all this

Yours sincerely

D-Darwin
