

I spoke briefly to Cutler yesterday about the Review and gathered there is no muddle about it. I however vaguely remember that Moore told me he had written to Haldane and received no answer. I see no harm in your discussing the question with Cutler if you think that anything ought to be done.

Yours sincerely

[10 July 1930]

L. Darwin (see C. & D.)