

14th May, 1929.

Major Leonard Darwin,
Cripps's Corner,
Forest Row,
Sussex.

Dear Major Darwin,

I am off to-day for the Public Health week in Zurich, where I shall be giving a talk and proposing a resolution as to Stocktaking surveys. I shall not get any letters till my return.

Vivian seems much inclined to let us down, but I should write to him again; I should not like him to feel comfortable about doing nothing. Thanks for having his letter sent to me.

Yours sincerely,

I shall have to say something on the deficiencies of our Statistics in the Chapter on differential birth rate now half done. Could you by heck or crook have the Registrar General's report for 1911 sent to me, perhaps from the Royal Statistical Society of which I am no longer a Fellow.
