CRIPPS'S CORNER,

FOREST ROW,

SUSSEX.

Dear Fisher

Herewith answer from Science Progress, which I rather expected to receive. Will you and Cutler kindly consider whether it should go in our Review, and if you decide for it, send it on to Mr. Hodgson. Is it too long? If so, could it be cut in two? As a matter of policy, should it come out before or after MacBride's review on Monogenesis - if published at all? I don't think he will like it, and without the shadow of a fact at my back, I feel that Ross may have consulted him as to its publication in S.P. I am anxious to avoid unnecessary contests, not of vital importance to Eugene, in our Review. So if you feel it had better not be published by us, don't hesitate to say so, please.

Yours sincerely

Leland Darwin
