CRIPPS'S CORNER,

FOREST ROW,

SUSSEX.

My dear Fisher.

I am afraid I have now no useful touch with Cambridge affairs. My brother Horace's health is bad, and my nephew Charles is in Edinburgh. I should think that the Master of your College would be much the best man to give you information on the point.
I forget his name, but I know how highly my brother regards his opinion.

Should you have a shot at it? Why not?

Sincerely haste

Yours
