Dear Fisher.

As to Armstrong, it it is the man I have in my mind, he is keen, good natured, but not too wise. I see no harm in putting him in touch with Drysdale. But I advise you to ask M^{rs} A. about him, as she has had to do with him, and I only go on vague impressions.

Till we get our £1000 for this year, we must be careful as to finance. But if and when that comes in, I shall gladly back your proposal

27 2.45
22 2.20

about periodicals.

I go home tomorrow.

Hoping you are all entering this new year in good health and spirits

Yours sincerely
Donald Dawson
