

Cripps's Corner. First Row
Sussex. Oct. 20. 23.

My dear Fisher.

I have heard from Mr. Holton about the School of Economic business, which seems to me to be very satisfactory. I gather Heald-wants us three to meet. Then you and I have to talk over the prospectus, or whatever it is called. Lastly I have still to pay my respects to my god son. May I tell you my plans, as that may help you to fix things up?

I leave here on Thursday next, 25th, for the Orchard, Humberston R^d, Cambridge. I could ~~be~~ be in the office anytime between 2-30 & 4-30 that day. Then I come up to London & sleep on Nov. 5-6 & 7. The idea passed through my mind that I might take Harpenden on my way back - it is not exactly on the road, but I think I can get there conveniently by about 12-40. Or I could come down later that-afternoon, if that suited better — and neither may be at all convenient. We could do the prospectus then. But how about Mallet? If he came down to see your show, it would not leave much time for Committee work, and very likely you would not care to ask him. In fact I am just putting down my thoughts as they come into my mind.

We must talk over some of the points in your letter. You say that my commendation beats you. But I think you solve the problem as I do by coming to the conclusion that if you select a f. m. person of unknown ancestry, his descendants are likely to be worse than his ancestors. At least that is how I read your conclusion.

Then as to conception control, I dare say I spoke rather unguardedly; for the matter has not been much in my mind lately.
I shall keep what you say for future consideration.

Yours sincerely

J. Darwin.
