

November 11, 1937

Dear Huxley,

We have here an Australian Opossum, bred in the Department about 6 months ago, which we should be glad to dispose of. Would you let me know if it is any use to the Zoo, and, if so, whether they could call at the Galton Laboratory and collect it. I have come to the conclusion that we are not adequately equipped to go with attempting to breed them.

Yours sincerely,