

October 25, 1939

Dear Taylor,

Thanks for your letter of October 23rd. It is very good that Janet Vaughan will cooperate about forms. I have been having some correspondence with Maizel, who is concerned about grouping errors, and am trying to get him to put his data on these at the disposal of Miss Young at Sutton. He has, however, raised the foolish question of alarming the public, as though the public were going to be alarmed by a technical examination of the low proportion of grouping errors in a paper in the Annals, which will certainly not appear for about a year. However, I am reasoning with him.

We shall be able to carry on here, though a good deal will depend on our capacity to adapt ourselves to changed conditions.

Yours sincerely,
